As director of communications and grassroots advocacy, Leslie Rosedahl blends her unique background rich in public affairs, media relations, and political action to build and organize successful networks and advocacy efforts for firm clients.

Ms. Rosedahl comes to Lockridge Grindal Nauen after serving as director of public affairs for the Minnesota Senate Republican Caucus where she was responsible for developing and implementing all caucus messaging. She was a chief advisor to Senate Republican leadership and oversaw caucus communications and research department efforts.

Before joining Lockridge Grindal Nauen, Ms. Rosedahl spent six years developing and executing a variety of public affairs strategies for a diverse range of clients with grassroots engagement, issue advocacy and media relations in six Midwestern states, including Minnesota.

Ms. Rosedahl graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minnesota and majored in political science. She resides in St. Paul.
